Looking for something fun for the kids to do over the holiday break? Check out the Environmental Nature Center's Nature Camps designed for children from kindergarten through 6th grade.

Two different camps are being offered. The first runs Dec. 26 – 29, 2017 and the second Jan. 2 – 5, 2018. Campers can choose to attend full-day or half-day camps.

The campers learn while adventuring! ENC Nature Camps emphasize experiential learning. Campers spend time outdoors observing nature up close. Educational concepts are introduced in a fun environment, and youth make crafts, play games and participate in hands-on activities.

The ENC has offered Nature Camps since 1977 providing quality science education in an outdoor setting.

For more information or to register go to www.encenter.org. The Environmental Nature Center is located at 1600 E. 16th St., Newport Beach.
